Dear Mr. Stankey:

On May 12, 2009, the AT&T Bargaining Committee presented its last, best and final offer to the CWA Bargaining Committee. Moments later you followed up with e-mail, a pre-recorded video and letters to our members stating, "We want to make sure your voice is heard on our final offer." You requested our members urge CWA District 6 leadership for an opportunity to vote.

Mr. Stankey, I have heard from the members. I was contacted by one (1) member asking to vote on your last, best and final offer. You also stated, "This is the only way you can be certain that your voice will be heard."

It appears, Mr. Stankey, that you are wrong again, because enclosed are petitions signed by over 12,500 CWA members stating AT&T's last, best and final offer STINKS! As you can see, some members have also included personal messages back to you on your letter.

Mr. Stankey, you wanted the CWA members (AT&T employees) to be heard. Will you listen? It is way past time for AT&T to begin meaningful negotiations with our elected CWA Bargaining Committee who also happen to be AT&T active or retired employees.

Sincerely,

Andy Milburn
Vice President
